Sano Sansar Initiative was founded In 2006 by 10 years and younger children to promote sustainable development through awareness, action and environmental Initiatives. With your help, today we have grown to be a global youth movement. We have protested against global warming, advocated for sustainable development and taken part in national and international initiatives to plant trees, educate youths, persuade the government and inspire NGOs/INGOs, including the United Nations! Checkout www.sanosansar.org to see what we have accomplished so far!
